

View Class Standing for Advance Registration

Registration Periods are published on the Registrar's Website. Undergraduate students can review the published registration periods and compare their current class standing to the schedule to get an idea of when they will have access to register for the subsequent term.

This help document provides instructions for how to determine your current class standing. Information about student classification can be found in the Course Catalog.

Important Note: Current class standing means the classification that a student has right now. Future class standing does not apply for the purpose of advance registration. Courses that are currently in progress do not count towards current class standing.

From any page in Workday:

1. Click the Profile Icon in the top right-hand corner.

2. Click the View Profile button.

3. Workday automatically displays the student summary.

Student Information

Student ID

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

Student Status: Active

Residency Status: Nonresident

Class Standing: Junior

Primary Program of Study: Educational Studies Bachelor of Science in Education

Contact Information - Public

Email

Student Classification

Classification	Course Hours Passed
Freshman	Less than 30 hours
Sophomore	30 or more hours but less than 60
Junior	60 or more hours but less than 90
Senior	90 or more hours

Important Note: In order to register with a different standing group, your class standing must first be updated to reflect that standing group.

Helpful Links

Registration Periods
Registration Hub
Student Classification
Advising Information